

CHARGES WASTE
IN VET BUREAU
DURING PROBE

Great Mass of Testimony
Now at Disposal of Committee.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Hearings before the senate investigation of the veterans' bureau that began Oct. 22 have practically ended.

At the public session next week it will be announced whether the testimony of Mrs. Katherine Tullidge Mortimer, wife of Elias H. Mortimer, chief accuser of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the bureau, shall be made public. Mrs. Mortimer appeared secretly before the committee. Yesterday she appeared publicly before the committee for the first time, with her attorney, Daniel J. Wright. She asked that she be permitted to testify to vindicate publicly her "character and good name."

Chairman Reed replied that the committee had received her statement privately, but would make it public if she desired. He also said the committee would propound publicly such questions as her counsel might prepare and that the committee might regard as relevant. Mrs. Mortimer retired with her counsel to prepare a list of questions to be submitted to the committee.

Through Charles R. Hooff, Washington representative of a Baltimore bonding company, it was developed that the bid of the Pontiac Construction company of Detroit, successful bidder for the Northampton (Mass.) hospital, had not been received by the veterans' bureau until several hours after the time set for opening bids, and with an intimation that it was not officially received until two days later. This company was one of those named by Mortimer as parties to an alleged conspiracy with Forbes and Charles F. Cramer, former general counsel of the bureau, to control the hospital contracts. The Pontiac bid was $27,000 higher than the low bidder.

The question over the lease of Camp Kearney at San Diego, Cal., was somewhat cleared up when E. J. Mack, one of the owners of the property, appeared before the committee. Mack satisfied the committee that the entire $35,000 paid by the government for a two weeks' lease had gone to the owners. William Wolff Smith, present general counsel for the bureau, stated that after this claim had been paid it had been disallowed by the comptroller general's office and charged against the bureau and the bureau was now charging it back against the owners at the rate of $204 a month, the rental price the government is now paying for this property on a second lease. The owners, however, are threatening eviction proceedings against the government.

Major General O'Ryan, counsel for the senate committee, issued the following statement: "What has been presented here in the public hearings constitutes but a fragment of what has been developed, both in relation to neglect of the disabled soldiers and to corruption and waste in the bureau. The committee has at its disposal a great mass of testimony, documents and reports, secured from various parts of the country."

HUNGER STRIKER
IN IRELAND DIES

Dublin, Nov. 21.—It is officially announced that the death of Dennis Barry, hunger striker, will have no effect on the Free State government's policy toward the 300 prisoners in Dublin who are refusing food. It is believed in Dublin that these prisoners will now end their fast and that the republicans will resume hostilities. Barry, whose home was in Cork, died after a hunger strike of 85 days in one of the Free State internment camps. He was the first of the irregular prisoners to succumb to self-imposed starvation.

TWELVE THOUSAND POLICEMEN OF NEW YORK SEEK SLAYER OF CHILD

New York, Nov. 21.—Twelve thousand policemen today were engaged in a house to house hunt for the slayer of four-year-old Irving Pickelny whose body was found yesterday in the basement of a building.

The lower east side, where the child lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pickelny, before his disappearance October 24, had not recovered from the shock following the discovery of the body. Crowds thronged the streets. Women wept. Threats of death to the fiend who killed the child were voiced by the men. Traffic was blocked for several squares around both the Pickelny home and the death basement four blocks away.

It was expected ten thousand persons would follow the child's body at the funeral to be held today.

TELEPHONE COMPANY EMPLOYEES
PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD CHIEF

All employees of The Ohio Bell Telephone Company in the Xenia district ceased their work for two minutes from 3 o'clock to 3:02 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in silent tribute to the memory of President B. A. Reed who died in Columbus Tuesday.

Employees stood with bowed heads during the two-minute period of respect. Exchange board operators answered all telephone calls standing during the first minute and one-half of the period. The last 30 seconds the operators were silent and no calls were answered. Similar tribute was paid by employees all over the state, wherever The Ohio Bell Company operates.

Eugene A. Reed, was born in Boston, educated in the public schools and Harvard University, received his A. B. in 1892 and studied law at Harvard two years before entering the employ of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in 1894. His first telephone employment was as assistant chief operator at the Boston office and he later served as chief operator, chief clerk to the district superintendent and assistant district superintendent of the Boston district.

Mr. Reed was transferred to New York as assistant superintendent in 1899, and subsequently served there as manager of the New York long lines operating station and special agents to the general superintendent. He began his service with The Ohio Bell Telephone Company and its predecessor, The Central Union Telephone Company in 1907 coming to Columbus from New York. In June 1911, he was made general plant superintendent for the Central group organization with headquarters in Chicago and in July 1912 returned to Columbus as general manager of Central Union Telephone Company and The Cleveland Telephone Company. He was elected a director and vice president of The Cleveland Company, now The Ohio Bell, in January 1921.

SUFFERS FRACTURED
LEG AS AUTOMOBILE
CRUSHES INTO HIM

Harlan Stephens, Allison Avenue, is in McClellan Hospital, suffering from a broken leg sustained in an accident at the public sale at the T. L. Lakey farm, Union neighborhood, south of Xenia, Tuesday.

Stephens, who had been attending the sale, started his Ford truck to leave, and the machine ran into a ditch. In extricating the car, he jacked up the rear end, and falling to remember about the jack later cranked the machine. The car leaped forward, crushing him against the tree.

The injured man was brought to the hospital here at once, where Dr. B. R. McClellan attended his injury. An X-Ray Thursday morning failed to reveal further injuries, and dispelled the belief he may have been injured internally.

EXPECTED TO ACT
ON COURT MOTIONS

Columbus, O. Nov. 21.—Federal Judge Sater is expected to act today on motions to quash the indictments in federal court against William G. Benham and Dwight Harrison, officials of the defunct R. L. Hollings Company of Ohio, charging use of the mails to defraud and of conspiracy to defraud. Demurrers to both indictments were also filed late yesterday.

NO SCRAPPING
OF BONUS BILL
TO BE ALLOWED

Western Senators Lining
Up Against the Suggestion

Washington, Nov. 21.—Any attempt to follow up the suggested plan of sidetracking the soldier bonus legislation as a corollary to tax reduction will meet with serious opposition.

This was made evident by several senators lately arriving in Washington fresh from constituencies in various parts of the country.

Senator C. J. Dill of Washington, recently chosen as successor to Miles Poindexter, and Senator Smith Brookhart, the militant progressive from Iowa, both declared they will oppose any plan of tax reduction that carries with it the scrapping of the bonus bill.

Senator Hiram Johnson also declared he is strongly for the bonus measure and that the administration can not now repudiate it. "It is too late now for the responsible leaders of the Republican party to say the bonus bill is economically unsound," the senator said. "The Republican administration stands pledged to the passage of the adjusted compensation act and that pledge must be kept."

Senator Johnson voted for the bonus bill twice. He regards it as a Republican measure, inasmuch as the party of the late President Harding was pledged to enact it. He is strongly in favor of reducing federal taxation, but will oppose any plan to effect reductions by rejecting the bonus bill.

Senator Dill said he had not studied the Mellon plan for tax reduction, but would not agree to having proposed reductions balanced against the bonus measure to the extent of having the latter sacrificed. Senator Brookhart also said he was unfamiliar with the details of the Mellon plan. He stands firmly for the bonus, he said.

A suggested form of compromise which would permit a tax reduction of approximately $200,000,000 a year and still enable the government to meet the demands of the soldier bonus bill was advanced by Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican whip and member of the finance committee. He proposed that after the $200,000,000 reduction in taxation has been made there should be passed a bill levying a customs duty on luxuries at a rate high enough to bring to the treasury the amount needed to defray costs of the bonus. A tariff bill in this form would be popular, the senator opined, if it were definitely known that its purpose was to raise the fund for payment of the bonus to veterans.

The senator said he had not talked the proposal over with any of his associates on the finance committee, but is of the opinion that a plan of this kind may be worked out, which would satisfy the clamor for tax reduction and at the same time please supporters of the bonus legislation.

EX-GOVERNOR WALTON MOVES OUT
AND HIS SUCCESSOR TAKES PLACE

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 21.—Another attempt of former Governor J. C. Walton to checkmate the legislative impeachment court failed today when Judge John H. Cotterall, of the District Federal Court, sustained a motion of the state of Oklahoma to dismiss application of Walton's attorneys for a temporary injunction.

After brief arguments from state and Walton attorneys, Judge Cotterall took immediate action.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 21.—Ex-Governor J. C. Walton, once proclaimed the Moses of the Southwest, as he was ushered into office by the world's greatest barbecue, quietly moved out of the gubernatorial suite at the capital today.

Just as quietly, Governor M. E. Trapp, whose parents were "eightyniners" moved in. There was no inaugural address from the new governor. He was expected, however, to send a message to the legislature this week, urging the immediate passage of anti-Klax Klan legislation.

Walton's case was finally closed, so far as the state is concerned, by the signing of the order of removal late yesterday. Walton's attorneys tried to file a bill of exceptions to the order. Their request was denied by the courts.

Today the ex-governor was to go into Federal Court to seek a retroactive injunction that would prevent execution of the impeachment court's judgment. The same court refused to take jurisdiction in the impeachment matter some time ago.

POSITION OF GREAT BRITAIN OUTLINED

London, Nov. 21.—Premier Baldwin, after a consultation with Lord Curzon, foreign minister, dispatched final instructions to Marquis Crewe, British ambassador at Paris, regarding the proposed note from the allies to Germany. Britain suggests a number of verbal alternatives and insists on the elimination of any indirect threats of future sanctions. The instructions also insist that General Nollet and his colleagues must not act independently, but must refer all matters in doubt to the allied ambassadors or to their governments.

BIG FOUR ENGINEER INJURED AS
TRAIN DERAILED NEAR ST. JAMES

Cleveland, O. Nov. 21.—Engineer William Cotton of Cleveland, was injured early today when Big Four passenger train number 13 was derailed near St. James, Ohio, according to reports at the Big Four offices here.

Cotton was buried beneath the engine which turned completely over. Fireman John F. Coyle jumped and escaped with scratches. Three cars, including a baggage car, smoker and day coach, next to the engine, were also derailed. While the passengers were shaken up, all escaped without serious injury reports received here stated.

Traffic, however, was tied up for several hours, and some trains were rerouted.

M'ADOO HAS LEAD
OVER HENRY FORD
IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Sioux Falls, S. D., Nov. 21.—William G. McAdoo, held a lead of six to one over Henry Ford in returns from more than half of the sixty counties selecting delegates to the state primary convention at Pierre, December 4, according to statements of party leaders today.

In the Republican conventions, the contest between President Coolidge and Senator Hiram Johnson, of California, was passed to the state gathering for settlement, virtually the entire state selecting uninstructed delegates in the county conventions yesterday.

FORM OPPOSITION TO EQUAL RIGHTS

Washington, Nov. 21.—Opposition to the equal rights amendment sponsored by the National Woman's party was announced here by the formation of a women's joint congressional committee, representing 11 women's organizations. Organizations listed as opposed to the proposed constitutional amendments are the General Federation of Women's clubs, the Young Women's Christian association, the American University Women, the Women's Trade Union League, the National League of Women Voters, the National Council of Jewish Women, the National Council of Women, the American Economics association, the National Federation of Teachers and the Girls' Friendly society. The adoption of the amendment, it is argued, would be regarded as a step backward for women.

The National Woman's party, headed by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, seeks the adoption of the amendment in order to place men and women on a footing of complete legal equality.

FRANCO-BELGIAN
ARMY IN GERMAN
AREA INSPECTED

Preparations Made to Meet
Any Move of Invaded
Country

Paris, Nov. 21.—Marshal Petain, one of France's foremost military experts, has gone to Dusseldorf to confer with General De Goutte and to inspect the Franco-Belgian army of occupation in the Ruhr and Rhineland, it was learned today. He will examine the preparations made to "meet any German eventuality."

"Pertinax," political editor of the Echo de Paris, expressed the opinion in an editorial today that the delay of the Allied Ambassadors' Council in sending its notes to Berlin, is increasing the defiance of the German government and is making more remote the possibility of a favorable reply from Chancellor Stresemann.

The French and English are having considerable difficulty in reaching an agreement over the text of the communications that the Ambassadors' Council decided to send to Berlin.

In view of new conditions which have arisen, Premier Poincare may address the Chamber of Deputies Friday, outlining the steps that are to be taken to guarantee France's security upon her eastern frontier.

London, Nov. 21.—Lord Crewe, British ambassador to France was instructed by the foreign office today that the allied governments through direct negotiations, have agreed upon the text of the note to Berlin regarding the return of the former crown prince and the possible return of the ex-kaiser from Holland.

A "slight difference" still exists over the contents of the note demanding that Germany accede to re-establishment of allied military control over Germany. Officials said they hoped it would be straightened out immediately.

GRAND JURY WILL PROBE DEATH OF MAN; TWO HELD

Caldwell, O., Nov. 21.—A special grand jury will be called next week to investigate the murder of Sheriff Charles Moore yesterday morning, Common Pleas Judge J. M. McGinnis, announced today.

Elmer Farra and George Sieben-schuh, both of Byesville, are held in the county jail upon affidavits charging first degree murder and were given preliminary hearings before Mayor Hupp late yesterday. They waived examination and were held to the grand jury without bond.

W. D. Jones and N. J. Burton, state prohibition officers, sent here by Governor Donahey to assist in a probe of a killing of Sheriff Moore were to examine the men in their cells today.

Moore was shot to death when he attempted to stop and search an automobile laden with liquor. Three men are said to have been in the car.

DEATH ATTRIBUTED TO DEMAND MADE

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The sudden death of Rudolf Havenstein, for fifteen years president of the reichsbank, is attributed by friends to a letter from President Ebert demanding his resignation as the head of Germany's bank of issue. President Ebert sent a letter to Havenstein in which he urged the banker to send in his resignation in view of the unceasing public sentiment and press attacks because of his reichsbank policy, which was partly held responsible for the present financial chaos in Germany. Ebert informed Havenstein that Commissioner of Foreign Exchange Schacht had been selected as his successor. Havenstein who was 66, is said to have become so agitated upon receipt of the letter that it reacted on his heart so that a short time later he was seized with heart cramps and died.

STIFF FINE METED OUT AFTER OFFICERS CONDUCT A RAID

H. D. Ellis, farmer, living between Port William and Paintersville, was fined $800 and costs for possessing whiskey illegally Tuesday by Magistrate J. E. Jones and paid his fine at once.

Ellis was arrested Tuesday in a raid conducted at his home by Chief Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, when about 40 gallons of whiskey, a quantity of wine and some wine in the process of fermentation was confiscated officers say.

According to officers, two kegs of corn whiskey were found buried in the barn at the Ellis home, where authorities say it had been aging for about a year. The liquor, although corn whiskey, had the color of pre-Volstead liquor that had been aged in the wood. The rest of the corn whiskey of recent distillation, was found in glass containers under hay in the hay mow. Wine found fermenting was poured out at the scene and the rest of the liquor brought here.

The raiding party besides Deputy Sheriff Baughn, included Deputy Geo. Spencer and Patrolmen William Boyles and H. T. Conner of the Xenia Police Department.

XENIA CENTRAL TO PLAY WASHINGTON C. H. HI 11 FRIDAY

Xenia Central High football team will close its season Friday afternoon meeting Washington C. H. High at Washington.

With a disastrous season rescued at the eleventh hour by a complete reversal of form against Greenfield McClain and London High, the locals have a rejuvenation of spirit that carries with it the determination to beat Washington.

The teams are ancient and honorable rivals. Although the most bitter rivalry has existed between Xenia and Washington, pleasant relations have always existed and the annual games have always attracted considerable interest from fans of both cities.

Washington C. H. will attempt to improve its standing with Xenia by winning. In the last two meetings between these teams, the Fayette County gridders have been forced to accept defeat. That they are more than anxious to redeem their past showing goes without saying.

The championship eleven of 1921 invaded Washington in the first game of that season to walk off with a handy victory. Last year the Washington eleven came here with a fancy lockstep derivation of the famous Centre College play and the second year champions again set them down.

Conditions have changed considerably this year. Coach Earl Burgner has been forced to rebuild a team that is just now reaching its top form. Washington, on the other hand, has been having a fairly prosperous season. Under the direction of Warren Vannorsdall, former Xenia Central star, the Fayette gridders disposed of London High 7 to 6 this season, while the best Xenia could do against London last Friday was a scoreless tie. Washington lost to Lancaster High Saturday 6 to 0.

With the rejuvenated form shown by the blue and white eleven in the last few weeks, fans may expect a real battle at Washington Friday. Increased interest in the Xenia team has resulted from the improved showing and it is expected a big crowd will follow the Burgner coached athletes Friday.

BILLIARD ARTISTS ENTERING TOURNEY STARTS WEDNESDAY

A billiard tournament scheduled to last through the winter and arouse interest in the ancient and honorable cushion game will start at the Arcade hall, South Detroit street, Wednesday evening. It is announced by A. L. Regan, proprietor.

About 30 entries in the tourney have been received so far, and the books are not yet closed, so that other cushion artists may enlist in the tournament. Several crack players are scheduled to enter the lists Wednesday night in the first round of the tournament. Among these will be Otto Hornick, rated as the champion billiard player in the city whose crown will be eagerly sought for during the winter by a number of other cue artists.

Prizes will be awarded for the most games won and also for high runs made during the tournament.

IN THE COURTS

MOTION IS SUSTAINED
The State Supreme Court Tuesday sustained a motion directing the Greene County Court of Appeals to certify its record in the case of Olivia May Judy, and others against James Trolinger, and others, a partition case involving many legal complexities that has been long in litigation here.

At the same time the motion was sustained, the court overruled a motion by the defendant to dismiss the petition in error. The case is an action in partition brought by the heirs-at-law of Martha J. Judy to recover certain real estate in the possession of James C. Trolinger, who claims title by a conveyance under a sale. It is said plaintiffs declare they were parties to a partition of property and sale when children and that their rights were not properly represented and guarded.

The Common Pleas Court decision here was in favor of the defendants and was affirmed by the Appellate Court, as to all the plaintiffs except as to Florence Martin, a party plaintiff, in which case the judgment below was reversed and the cause remanded. Since then the plaintiffs in error appealed to the Supreme Court and the decision of that court Tuesday means the action will be carried to that tribunal. The property involved includes a farm near Fairfield.

C. H. Kyle and Philetus Smith and W. H. McLellan Jr., of Toledo, represent the plaintiffs in error and Marcus Shoup is attorney for the defendant.

EDUCATION.

John T. Adams, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, said recently:

"The safety and permanency of our republic rest upon the ability of the people for self-government. This, in turn, depends in a very large measure upon their education for the duties of citizenship. A free people must of necessity be an education people.

"Those who fled the tyranny and oppression of Europe and settled America well understood this fact. No privilege was more carefully guarded by the early colonists than that of free education. No practice was more tenaciously followed than that of providing schooling for their children.

"Our institutions are founded upon the principle that in a government of the people the people are capable of running their affairs because through education they understand the needs and processes of self-government. America endures because the people have a respect for a devotion to the institutions peculiar to this republic. These qualities are dependent upon an intelligent understanding of those institutions.

"America has led the world in promoting and supporting popular education, not only because an educated citizenship is necessary for the preservation of free institutions, but because it is necessary for material progress and prosperity. The United States has become the greatest producing nation because the worker in the factory and the worker on the farm are educated and bring to their task a trained mind.

"Industrial statistics show beyond all dispute that the least educated laborer, as a rule, is the poorest paid. Agricultural statistics show the most backward sections are those with the highest rate of illiteracy, while the richest and most productive states are those with the best school system and the lowest rate of illiteracy.

"Society and industry recognize the economic necessity as well as the political wisdom of popular education. The underlying reason for laws prohibiting child labor is that the employment of children denies them the opportunity of obtaining an education which fits them for citizenship and gives them opportunity for their own development.

"Our school and truancy laws, our elaborate provisions for school taxes, all testify to the fact that the people of this country fully realize the important part education plays in the development and destinies of this republic.

"A great deal remains to be done. There is the problem of educating the non-English-speaking aliens of whom there are at least 5,000,000 in this country, according to conservative estimate. It is impossible for those who cannot read or write our language to catch the spirit of our free institutions.

"Education must not be confined to the few. It must remain the possession of all the people if democratic institutions are to prevail. It must be within the reach of every family if the average citizen is to prosper and his children are to have the equal opportunities that this republic guarantees them. Nothing in a representative government is so essential to individual welfare, national prosperity and the stability of institutions, as popular education."

THANKSGIVING DAY.

President Coolidge has issued his Thanksgiving Day proclamation for this year and speaks of the early beginning and constant continuance of the national custom of thanking God for his providential blessings. He calls to mind the death of President Harding and the disaster of the Japanese earthquake, and says that such experiences as these, if properly considered, tend to test and refine men and nations.

He impresses the fact that this has been to the people of our own nation a year filled with much of material prosperity, so that we have been blessed above all other countries. The President asks that the people gather in their homes and places of worship on Thursday, November 29, to give expression of their gratitude and "seek the guidance of Almighty God, that they may deserve a continuance of his favor."

The people of our land will do well to heed the message of their President, for Nov. 29, and observe the day with deep gratitude to Almighty God, and especially with appreciation of his mercy and grace through our Lord and Saviour.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest. Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup. Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and tastes very pleasant.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—inflamed membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs. Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

ACHIEVEMENT

Buckle in, buckle in, buckle in to the task!
For the commonplace duties and easy don't ask,
Be glad it's your fortune to carry a load,
To turn from the highways and blaze a new road,
Be glad life has asked you great courage to bring
To some difficult thing!
What man has done there are many to do,
But the feat unaccomplished remains for the few.
The problems unsolved and the mountains unscathed

Will yet be achieved spite of all who have failed,
And he will be great who'll tenaciously cling
To some difficult thing.

Don't envy the idler who dances life through,
Be glad life has called you some service to do.
Rejoice in your burden, hold fast through the doubt,
Pride will be yours when the problem's worked out.
Tread the long road of achievement and cling
To some difficult thing.

They realized that important research and educational work was necessary to give people the best information on how to use cement. They also realized that this could be done better by unified effort than by any individual company alone.

As a result, you may have for the asking the benefit of this Association's long and exhaustive studies on how best to use cement for the most satisfactory results in concrete construction.

Whatever use you plan to make of cement—whether you are building a concrete hog house or concrete dairy barn, a stretch of concrete walk or a concrete road, a silo or a skyscraper, a home, workshop or a factory—you needn't guess. You can know.

If you want information about the usefulness of concrete under certain conditions, how to mix or place it to get the greatest value out of every sack of cement—you can get it by writing any one of our 28 offices listed below.

Supplying dependable information without charge by booklet, by letter or by personal conference when necessary, is the work of this Association. Millions of helpful booklets, covering a multitude of uses of concrete, are distributed annually to people who know they needn't guess—who know they can get the facts from us.

GRAHAM IS NOT BEHIND ACTIVITY

Washington, Nov. 21.—Backers of Representative William J. Graham of Illinois for majority leader issued a statement defining "what is behind the Graham candidacy." The statement says: "The Graham candidacy gives expression in the house to the progressive Republican sentiment of the rank and file, east and west alike. Mr. Graham comes from an agricultural state of the great middle west, and his candidacy represents the feeling that emphasis needs to be put upon agricultural welfare equally with industrial and commercial welfare. The Graham candidacy is based upon the conviction that the combination of Gillett for speaker and Longworth for floor leader (the organization slate) does not give proper balance to the original lines."

ALLEGED EXTORTION AGAINST ATTORNEY IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—Herman L. Roth, Hollywood and New York attorney, was indicted by the Los Angeles county grand jury on the charge of extortion as a result of a hearing of the charges that the lawyer, by means of a spurious divorce complaint, attempted to blackmail Barbara La Marr, prominent screen actress, out of $20,000. The indictment charges a felony. Roth was arrested last Thursday and after being held incommunicado some time was released on $5,000 bail. He was present in the grand jury room when the indictment was returned.

Authorities charge that Roth plotted to induce Blanche Sweet to file a suit for annulment of her marriage to Marshall Neilan. The district attorney's office holds evidence, it is alleged, in the form of a drawn up complaint against Neilan and which was seized in the lawyer's office.

Miss Sweet denied very emphatically she ever had consulted Roth or any other attorney relative to filing a divorce complaint. Her husband just as emphatically joined in the denial.

Miss Sweet said Roth had drawn up the complaint and then had tried to entice her either to sign, or, at least, to discuss filing it. She asserted Roth "pestered" her over the telephone "for months" on the pretext of wanting to discuss "contracts." She admits she finally went to his office, but that Roth was very definite in his conversation as to contracts.

A Conservative Financial Institution Always Remembers. The Public Frequently Forgets.

How easily and how soon, as a people, we forget great public money losses. We are startled at the time. We condemn the bad judgment, the disregard of safe rules of finance that caused them. Then they pass into history and are almost forgotten.

The Conservative financial institution never forgets. It always steers by the age-old beacons of safety. It never offers a return greater than experience shows can be steadily and safely earned. It pays to be safe.

INVESTIGATE DEATH OF WAR VETERAN

Hartford, Conn., Nov. 21.—The first indictment for manslaughter, based on the death of a patient treated by a doctor, will be returned within the next day or two, it was revealed here. Relatives of the victim, a wounded war veteran, were heard. After his finger had been crushed in a factory he was rushed to the office of a "doctor," a confessed purchaser of a diploma from the Kansas College of Medicine and Surgery. The "doctor," it is said, tied his victim to the operating table and prepared to amputate the finger. More than three cans of ether were administered. When the "doctor" had finished the operation the patient was dead.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but Important Lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

PAR. VALUE IS NO MEASURE OF WORTH

Corporations are beginning to issue no par common stock, because par value stock is sometimes misleading. People often think par value is a measure of value.

The par value of a share of common stock simply means that, at the time the company was originally organized, it was estimated that the stock was worth, say $100. That doesn't tell how much it is worth now, because in the mean time, the company has either made, or lost money.

A share of stock represents a certain fraction of the ownership of a company. It is not a debt. It is misleading to put an arbitrary par value on it, because each share is entitled to a proportion of net assets. If stock really has no set value, why not make its name represent what it is?

Consequently many contend that it is more logical to have no-par stock, which has no arbitrary par value, but represents exactly what stock is: a certificate of fractional ownership in a business.

NONPARTISAN MOVE FOR TAX LOWERING

Washington, Nov. 21.—A nonpartisan, co-operative movement has been started in congress to put through tax reduction legislation along the general lines of the program recommended by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon.

Coincident with the announcement of this plan, it was stated that the Republican leaders have been definitely advised that President Coolidge is going to vigorously commend relief for the taxpayers in his forthcoming message. The president, it was said, has supplied the inspiration for the nonpartisan movement. He will point out in his message that tax cuts affect all the people of all parts of the country, regardless of party, and that such a measure of relief should not be made a party matter. On the basis of this appeal, Republican leaders in the house and senate will seek to form a coalition to agree on a bill and insure its early passage.

TELEPHONE CHIEF DEAD

DIDN'T KNOW HIS BROTHER

"My brother got so bad with stomach and liver trouble that when I saw him after a year I didn't know him. He was emaciated and yellow as a pumpkin and was often in great pain. He couldn't have lived long the way he was going. Doctors and medicine gave him no relief. I picked up a little booklet on May's Wonderful Remedy, which he said described his case perfectly. The first dose of it gave him great relief and in a month he was good as ever." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. Sayre & Hemphill and druggists everywhere. adv

IF BACK HURTS FLUSH KIDNEYS

Drink Plenty Water and Take Glass of Salts Before Breakfast Occasionally.

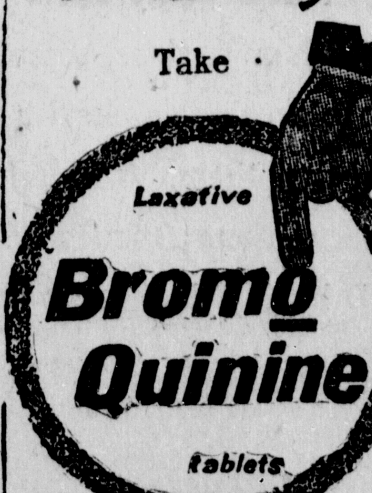

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which helps to remove the body's urinous waste and stimulate them to their normal activity.

The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of good water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts. Take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in the system so they are no longer a source of irritation, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to help keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this; also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year. adv

DISCUSSES OUIJA BOARD TUESDAY

In discussing "Ouija Board" Tuesday night at The First Methodist Church, the Rev. Edward Berger said that while many find it an innocent amusement, to others, who make of it a spiritualistic seance, it has been a menace to sanity.

Incidentally it was mentioned that the word "ouija" is its own best definition, since it is merely a repetition of the word "yes" in French and in German. "With such antagonistic origin what wonder if it starts a conflict in the subconsciousness?" queried the speaker. However, he claimed that to nine-tenths of the questions asked it, Ouija is true to its name and will answer "yes, yes," confirming the desire in the mind that controls the hands on the board.

The danger of the ouija board was pointed out as that of trifling with one's own subconscious mind.

Proceeding to explain the difference between the right use and the speaker declared, "The greatest abuse of the subconscious, the uncontrolled use. Sanitation and physical hygiene are not more necessary than a knowledge that will banish fear and all evil thought with their long train of suffering and utter wretchedness. If all your life you think of a man of 60 or 70 years as wrinkled, decrepit, and worn out, then that is what you will be at that age. When I was 45 I constantly told myself that I would have better health at 60. And I did have. 'Let us live in the freedom wherewith Christ has set us free.'"

The topic Wednesday night at eight o'clock at The First Methodist Church is "Your Mental Picture Gallery." Thursday afternoon at three o'clock the lecturer will give Lesson II: "According to Your Faith," Faith.

Author of "Love," "Forbidden," Etc.

A FORCED INTRUSION

Chapter 19.

For two long days Lee did not see Hope. Each afternoon, at the sunset hour, he climbed to their rocky rendezvous and waited—in vain—until the gray shadows of evening closed about him.

On the third day he could not endure waiting any longer. When he reached the Rocky Cliff and found that Hope was not there, he decided to walk on through the woods in the direction of her cabin. He did not question whether it was the thing to do or not—the desire to see her urged him on regardless. He did not even stop to think what he would do when he reached the cabin. He only knew that some inexplicable power, over which he had no control, was drawing him toward her.

Jim Reiveller had pointed out the little rustic cabin when they had been fishing in the morning. It nestled deep among tamarack and spruce trees, and was hardly visible in its secluded nook, where the inlet broadened out and formed a quiet cove at the head of the lake.

Yet even this sort of sacred seclusion, which hovered about the little cabin, did not tend to weaken him in his determination to reach it—and Hope. He had a queer pent-up feeling that Hope needed him. It hurt him to know that life was making her suffer so cruelly. She seemed almost frail and physically unequal to this battle she was facing heroically. And her lonely strength fired him with compassion.

He had tried to draw Jim out and make him talk about Hope. He was impatient to hear more about the weak, good-for-nothing man whom she had married. There was something incomprehensible to him in her loyalty.

"She won't leave his side now for days," Jim declared as Lee questioned him. "First he's sullen, en' hard as the devil to take care of. Then suddenly he's sorry and broken hearted—en' miserable. I seen him once after he's been off on one of them drunks. It was a time when he was so bad she had to come down and git me to go up 'en help her." Having imparted this information, Jim lapsed into thoughtful silence while Lee's imagination filled in the details.

Now as he walked on through the woods toward the little cabin, he was thinking of what Jim had said and the thoughts of the conversation urged him on. So, immersed in the one thought of reaching Hope, he suddenly came upon a man and a woman sitting talking in the woods. He stopped abruptly within 25 feet of them, and had it not been for the protection of two large pine trees they would surely have seen him.

Lee's heart seemed to stop short and then start up again in wild, noisy beating against his side. He grasped the rough bark of the huge pine tree and stepped back quickly within the protection of its broad shadows.

Straight ahead on a fallen log, with her back resting wearily against a tree, sat Hope. A man was sitting beside her with one thin hand resting in her lap and Lee noticed that Hope's fingers were entwined about his, caressing them from time to time.

The man was apparently tall and extremely pale and thin. His profile was turned toward Lee and it was almost beautiful in its pale delicateness save for his mouth, which was small and weak with a hopeless downward turn at the corners.

"You—you'll always stand by me, won't you, Hope?" the man entreated and something about the desperate hollow quality of his voice made Lee shudder.

For answer, Hope smiled tragically and patted the back of his white hand. "I think always that I won't—I won't do it again. God knows I don't want to," he cried, pulling his hand away from Hope's fingers and burying his thin face in his palms. "But you'll not give me up? You'll stand by me? I couldn't endure it without you!" he begged.

Hope placed her arm on his shoulder and answered something but Lee could not tell what she said—he could only catch the low murmuring of her soft voice.

CHARGES WASTE IN VET BUREAU DURING PROBE

Great Mass of Testimony
Now at Disposal of
Committee.

Washington, Nov. 21.—Hearings before the senate investigation of the veterans' bureau that began Oct. 22 have practically ended.

At the public session next week it will be announced whether the testimony of Mrs. Katherine Tullidge Mortimer, wife of Elias H. Mortimer, chief accuser of Colonel Charles R. Forbes, former director of the bureau, shall be made public. Mrs. Mortimer appeared secretly before the committee. Yesterday she appeared publicly before the committee for the first time, with her attorney, Daniel J. Wright. She asked that she be permitted to testify to vindicate publicly her "character and good name."

Chairman Reed replied that the committee had received her statement privately, but would make it public if she desired. He also said the committee would propound publicly such questions as her counsel might prepare and that the committee might regard as relevant. Mrs. Mortimer retired with her counsel to prepare a list of questions to be submitted to the committee.

Through Charles R. Hooff, Washington representative of a Baltimore bonding company, it was developed that the bid of the Pontiac Construction company of Detroit, successful bidder for the Northampton (Mass.) hospital, had not been received by the veterans' bureau until several hours after the time set for opening bids, and with an intimation that it was not officially received until two days later. This company was one of those named by Mortimer as parties to an alleged conspiracy with Forbes and Charles F. Cramer, former general counsel of the bureau, to control the hospital contracts. The Pontiac bid was $27,000 higher than the low bidder.

The question over the lease of Camp Kearney at San Diego, Cal., was somewhat cleared up when E. J. Mack, one of the owners of the property, appeared before the committee. Mack satisfied the committee that the entire $35,000 paid by the government for a two weeks' lease had gone to the owners. William Wolf Smith, present general counsel for the bureau, stated that after this claim had been paid it had been disallowed by the comptroller general's office and charged against the bureau and the bureau was now charging it back against the owners at the rate of $204 a month, the rental price the government is now paying for this property on a second lease. The owners, however, are threatening eviction proceedings against the government.

Major General O'Ryan, counsel for the senate committee, issued the following statement: "What has been presented here in the public hearings constitutes but a fragment of what has been developed, both in relation to neglect of the disabled soldiers and to corruption and waste in the bureau. The committee has at its disposal a great mass of testimony, documents and reports, secured from various parts of the country."

HUNGER STRIKER IN IRELAND DIES

Dublin, Nov. 21.—It is officially announced that the death of Dennis Barry, hunger striker, will have no effect on the Free State government's policy toward the 300 prisoners in Dublin who are refusing food. It is believed in Dublin that these prisoners will now end their fast and that the republicans will resume hostilities. Barry, whose home was in Cork, died after a hunger strike of 85 days in one of the Free State internment camps. He was the first of the irregular prisoners to succumb to self-imposed starvation.

SNAP SHOTS

Louis R. Ushomano was drowned in a vat of wine in the rear of his home at Newark, N. J., and Samuel Sico, who attempted to arrest him, was saved from a similar fate by firemen. Prohibition agents seized the wine.

One man was injured and the interior of a saloon on the outskirts of Chicago was demolished by a high explosive bomb hurled through an open window.

Rev. Dr. John Clifford, veteran leader in the Baptist church, died suddenly at London, while attending a meeting of the Baptist Union.

John McGonigal, veteran police officer, was killed when alcohol exploded in a hallway at the Warren street station, Chicago. Walls of the building were damaged by the blast. The alcohol had been seized in police raids.

St. Louis gangsters invaded Heroin, Ill., following the slaying of their chief, H. F. Doering, in a resort.

Earth tremors shook the provinces of Barcelona, Muesca, Lerida and San Sebastian in Spain.

LADY ASTOR SEEKS RE-ELECTION

Viscountess Nancy Astor, only American woman ever to sit in the British Parliament, has started her campaign for re-election in the general elections of December 6. She is standing for the Plymouth district, which she has previously represented. Forty women are candidates for seats in the next session of the House of Commons.

TWELVE THOUSAND POLICEMEN OF NEW YORK SEEK SLAYER OF CHILD

New York, Nov. 21.—Twelve thousand policemen today were engaged in a house to house hunt for the slayer of four-year-old Irving Pickelny whose body was found yesterday in the basement of a building.

The lower east side, where the child lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Pickelny, before his disappearance October 24, had not recovered from the shock following the discovery of the body. Crowds thronged the streets. Women wept. Threats of death to the fiend who killed the child were voiced by the men. Traffic was blocked for several squares around both the Pickelny home and the death basement four blocks away. It was expected ten thousand persons would follow the child's body at the funeral to be held today.

TELEPHONE COMPANY EMPLOYEES PAY TRIBUTE TO DEAD CHIEF

All employees of The Ohio Bell Telephone Company in the Xenia district ceased their work for two minutes from 3 o'clock to 3:02 o'clock Wednesday afternoon in silent tribute to the memory of President B. A. Reed who died in Columbus Tuesday.

Employees stood with bowed heads during the two-minute period of respect. Exchange board operators answered all telephone calls standing during the first minute and one-half of the period. The last 30 seconds the operators were silent, and no calls were answered. Similar tribute was paid by employees all over the state, wherever The Ohio Bell Company operates.

Eugene A. Reed, was born in Boston, educated in the public schools and Harvard University, received his A. B. in 1892 and studied law at Harvard two years before entering the employ of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company in 1894. His first telephone employment was as assistant chief operator at the Boston office and he later served as chief operator, chief clerk to the district superintendent and assistant district superintendent of the Boston district.

Mr. Reed was transferred to New York as assistant superintendent in 1899, and subsequently served there as manager of the New York long lines operating station and special agents to the general superintendent. He began his service with The Ohio Bell Telephone Company and its predecessor, The Central Union Telephone Company in 1903 coming to Columbus from New York. In June 1911, he was made general plant superintendent for the Central group organization with headquarters in Chicago and in July 1912 returned to Columbus as general manager of Central Union Telephone Company and The Cleveland Telephone Company. He was elected a director and vice president of The Cleveland Company, now The Ohio Bell, in January 1921.

DEATH ATTRIBUTED TO DEMAND MADE

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The sudden death of Rudolf Havenstein, for fifteen years president of the reichsbank, is attributed by friends to a letter from President Ebert demanding his resignation as the head of Germany's bank of issue. President Ebert sent a letter to Havenstein in which he urged the banker to send in his resignation in view of the unceasing public sentiment and press attacks because of his reichsbank policy, which was partly held responsible for the present financial chaos in Germany. Ebert informed Havenstein that Schacht had been selected as his successor. Havenstein who was 66, is said to have become so agitated upon receipt of the letter that it reacted on his heart so that a short time later he was seized with heart cramps and died.

NO SCRAPPING OF BONUS BILL TO BE ALLOWED

Western Senators Lining
gestion

Washington, Nov. 21.—Any attempt to follow up the suggested plan of sidetracking the soldier bonus legislation as a corollary to tax reduction will meet with serious opposition.

This was made evident by several senators lately arriving in Washington fresh from constituencies in various parts of the country.

Senator C. J. Dill of Washington, recently chosen as successor to Miles Poindexter, and Senator Smith Brookhart, the militant progressive from Iowa, both declared they will oppose any plan of tax reduction that carries with it the scrapping of the bonus bill.

Senator Hiram Johnson also declared he is strongly for the bonus measure and that the administration can not now repudiate it. "It is too late now for the responsible leaders of the Republican party to say the bonus bill is economically unsound," the senator said. "The Republican administration stands pledged to the passage of the adjusted compensation act and that pledge must be kept."

Senator Johnson voted for the bonus bill twice. He regards it as a Republican measure, inasmuch as the party of the late President Harding was pledged to enact it. He is strongly in favor of reducing federal taxation, but will oppose any plan to effect reductions by rejecting the bonus bill.

Senator Dill said he had not studied the Mellon plan for tax reduction, but would not agree to having proposed reductions balanced against the bonus measure to the extent of having the latter sacrificed. Senator Brookhart also said he was unfamiliar with the details of the Mellon plan. He stands firmly for the bonus, he said.

A suggested form of compromise which would permit a tax reduction of approximately $200,000,000 a year and still enable the government to meet the demands of the soldier bonus bill was advanced by Senator Curtis of Kansas, Republican whip and member of the finance committee. He proposed that after the $200,000,000 reduction in taxation has been made there should be passed a bill levying a customs duty on luxuries at a rate high enough to bring to the treasury the amount needed to defray costs of the bonus. A tariff bill in this form would be popular, the senator opined, if it were definitely known that its purpose was to raise the fund for payment of the bonus to veterans.

The senator said he had not talked the proposal over with any of his associates on the finance committee, but is of the opinion that a plan of this kind may be worked out, which would satisfy the clamor for tax reduction and at the same time please supporters of the bonus legislation.

EX-GOVERNOR WALTON MOVES OUT AND HIS SUCCESSOR TAKES PLACE

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 21.—Another attempt of former Governor J. C. Walton to checkmate the legislative impeachment court failed today when Judge John H. Cottrell, of the District Federal Court, sustained a motion of the state of Oklahoma to dismiss application of Walton's attorneys for a temporary injunction.

After brief arguments from state and Walton attorneys, Judge Cottrell took immediate action.

Oklahoma City, Okla., Nov. 21.—Ex-Governor J. C. Walton, once proclaimed the Moses of the Southwest, as he was ushered into office by the world's greatest barbecue, quietly moved out of the gubernatorial suite at the capital today.

Just as quietly, Governor M. E. Trapp, whose parents were "eighty-niners" moved in. There was no inaugural address from the new governor. He was expected, however, to send a message to the legislature this week, urging the immediate passage of anti-Ku Klux Klan legislation.

Walton's case was finally closed, so far as the state is concerned, by the signing of the order of removal late yesterday. Walton's attorneys

POSITION OF GREAT BRITAIN OUTLINED

London, Nov. 21.—Premier Baldwin, after a consultation with Lord Curzon, foreign minister, dispatched final instructions to Marquis Crewe, British ambassador at Paris, regarding the proposed note from the allies to Germany. Britain suggests a number of verbal alternatives and insists on the elimination of any indirect threats or future sanctions. The instructions also insist that General Nollet and his colleagues must not act independently, but must refer all matters in doubt to the allied ambassadors or to their governments.

BIG FOUR ENGINEER INJURED AS TRAIN DERAILED NEAR ST. JAMES

Cleveland, O. Nov 21.—Engineer William Cotton of Cleveland, was injured early today when Big Four passenger train number 13 was derailed near St. James, Ohio, according to reports at the Big Four offices here.

Cotton was buried beneath the engine which turned completely over. Fireman John F. Coyle jumped and escaped with scratches. Three cars, including a baggage car, smoker and day coach, next the engine, were also derailed. While the passengers were shaken up, all escaped without serious injury reports received here stated.

Traffic, however, was tied up for several hours, and some trains were rerouted.

GRAND JURY WILL PROBE DEATH OF MAN; TWO HELD

Caldwell, O., Nov. 21.—A special grand jury will be called next week to investigate the murder of Sheriff Charles Moore yesterday morning, Common Pleas Judge J. M. McGinnis, announced today.

Elmer Farra and George Siebens, both of Byesville, are held in the county jail upon affidavits charging first degree murder and were given preliminary hearings before Mayor Hupp late yesterday. They waived examination and were held to the grand jury without bond.

W. D. Jones and N. J. Burton, state prohibition officers, sent here by Governor Donahey to assist in a probe of a killing of Sheriff Moore were to examine the men in their cells today. Moore was shot to death when he attempted to stop and search an automobile laden with liquor. Three men are said to have been in the car.

FORM OPPOSITION TO EQUAL RIGHTS

Washington, Nov. 21.—Opposition to the equal rights amendment sponsored by the National Woman's party was announced here by the formation of a women's joint congressional committee, representing 11 women's organizations. Organizations listed as opposed to the proposed constitutional amendments are the General Federation of Women's clubs, the Young Women's Christian association, the American University Women, the Women's Trade Union League, the National League of Women Voters, the National Council of Jewish Women, the National Council of Women, the American Economics association, the National Federation of Teachers and the Girls' Friendly society. The adoption of the amendment, it is argued, would be regarded as a step backward for women.

The National Woman's party, headed by Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont of New York, seeks the adoption of the amendment in order to place men and women on a footing of complete legal equality.

FRANCO-BELGIAN ARMY IN GERMAN AREA INSPECTED

Preparations Made to Meet
Any Move of Invaded
Country

Paris, Nov. 21.—Marshal Petain, one of France's foremost military experts, has gone to Dusseldorf to confer with General De Goutte and to inspect the Franco-Belgian army of occupation in the Ruhr and Rhineland, it was learned today. He will examine the preparations made to "meet any German eventuality."

"Pertinax," political editor of the Echo de Paris, expressed the opinion in an editorial today that the delay of the Allied Ambassadors' Council in sending its notes to Berlin, is increasing the defiance of the German government and is making more remote the possibility of a favorable reply from Chancellor Stresemann.

The French and English are having considerable difficulty in reaching an agreement over the text of the communications that the Ambassadors' Council decided to send to Berlin.

In view of new conditions which have arisen, Premier Poincare will address the Chamber of Deputies Friday, outlining the steps that are to be taken to guarantee France's security upon her eastern frontier.

London, Nov. 21.—Lord Crewe, British ambassador to France was instructed by the foreign office today that the allied governments through direct negotiations, have agreed upon the text of the note to Berlin regarding the return of the former crown prince and the possible return of the ex-kaiser from Holland.

A "slight difference" still exists over the contents of the note demanding that Germany accede to re-establishment of allied military control over Germany. Officials said they hoped it would be straightened out immediately.

Berlin, Nov. 21.—The reichstag reconvened here with the avowed object of the majority parties represented to dig the political grave and overthrow Chancellor Stresemann. It broke up in a riot precipitated by communist deputies.

Stresemann had asked for a strong detail of police guards armed with rifles for the protection of the reichstag against any kind of a surprise attack. The very presence of the police guard was the cause of the riot on the floor.

Communist Deputy Remmele started the fracas by hurling epithets and insults at President Loeb and, supported by his colleagues, in howls and jeers demanded the withdrawal of the police from within and around the reichstag building. The communists kept up such a tumult that it was impossible for the business of the reichstag to continue, so that President Loeb adjourned the body until tomorrow. Three demands for a vote of lack of confidence against Stresemann are projected by as many parties.

More than 130 separatists have been killed in the course of fierce battles which raged during the past few days between the Rhineland republicans and the defense forces of local citizens and villagers in the wooded districts of the Rhine valley. Most of the fighting occurred in remote districts.

Early last week 4,000 separatists occupied Hones on the Rhine and commenced terrorizing the town and district. They robbed and maltreated the inhabitants, who organized a defense force and opened war on their attackers. They attacked the separatists, bands of the defense organization covering the districts in motor trucks and literally massacring them. The separatist commander was ambushed and shot down in his car. Fired with this success against the separatists at Hones, the villagers in all parts of the mountain districts formed defense forces and set to work systematically to exterminate the separatists.

The separatists dispatched an expedition from Hones. The town defense force took a short cut through the woods, ambushed the republican lorries and slaughtered the occupants, beating 23 to death. The fiercest struggle occurred the day following, when the defense forces killed 70 and captured 50. Many others are believed dying or dead, in the woods. The French have disarmed and expelled the remaining separatists.

STIFF FINE METED
OUT AFTER OFFICERS
CONDUCT A RAID

H. D. Ellis, farmer, living between Port William and Paintersville, was fined $800 and costs for possessing whiskey illegally Tuesday by Magistrate J. E. Jones and paid his fine at once.

Ellis was arrested Tuesday in a raid conducted at his home by Chief Deputy Sheriff John Baughn, when about 40 gallons of whiskey, a quantity of wine and some wine in the process of fermentation was confiscated officers say.

According to officers, two kegs of corn whiskey were found buried in the barn at the Ellis home, where authorities say it had been aging for about a year. The liquor, although corn whiskey, had the color of pre-Volstead liquor that had been aged in the wood. The rest of the corn whiskey of recent distillation, was found in glass containers under hay in the hay mow. Wine found fermenting was poured out at the scene and the rest of the liquor brought here.

The raiding party besides Deputy Sheriff Baughn, included Deputy Geo. Spencer and Patrolmen William Boyles and H. T. Conner of the Xenia Police Department.

XENIA CENTRAL TO PLAY WASHINGTON
C. H. HI 11 FRIDAY

Xenia Central High football team will close its season Friday afternoon meeting Washington C. H. High at Washington.

With a disastrous season rescued at the eleventh hour by a complete reversal of form against Greenfield McClain and London High, the locals have a rejuvenation of spirit that carries with it the determination to beat Washington.

The teams are ancient and honorable rivals. Although the most bitter rivalry has existed between Xenia and Washington, pleasant relations have always existed and the annual games have always attracted considerable interest from fans of both cities.

Washington C. H. will attempt to improve its standing with Xenia by winning. In the last two meetings between these teams, the Fayette County gridgers have been forced to accept defeat. That they are more than anxious to redeem their past showing goes without saying.

The championship eleven of 1921 invaded Washington in the first game of that season to walk off with a handy victory. Last year the Washington eleven came here with a fancy lockstep derivation of the famous Centre College play and the second year champions again set them down.

Conditions have changed considerably this year. Coach Earl Burgner has been forced to rebuild a team that is just now reaching its top form. Washington, on the other hand, has been having a fairly prosperous season. Under the direction of Warren Vannorsdall, former Xenia Central star, the Fayette gridgers disposed of London High 7 to 6 this season, while the best Xenia could do against London last Friday was a scoreless tie. Washington lost to Lancaster High Saturday 6 to 0.

With the rejuvenated form shown by the blue and white eleven in the last few weeks, fans may expect a real battle at Washington Friday. Increased interest in the Xenia team has resulted from the improved showing and it is expected a big crowd will follow the Burgner coached athletes Friday.

Firm, Plump, Flesh!

MANY are the eyes that are turned to gaze with keen admiration on the well developed healthy girl no matter where she may be—on the rapidly moving thoroughfare or gliding gracefully over the dance floor.

All eyes turn because we all appreciate the girl with the figure so firm and plump—the girl with radiantly red cheeks, cheeks that carry a touch of roses from nature's own garden—the girl with the sparkling eyes, keen and sharp—the girl with buoyancy and the swing of youth.

Not necessarily an out-of-doors girl. Just a girl with ever increasing blood cells. Just a girl filled with the vim and vigor of youth.

S. S. S., since 1828, has stood for increased blood cells. S. S. S. means restored strength—rekindled vitality—added energy. Take S. S. S. and watch the bloom of youth return to your cheeks. Watch that flabby, ill nourished flesh fade away before flesh that is firm and plump. Red blood cells will do it and S. S. S. will build them. It contains only pure vegetable ingredients. S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores. The large size bottle is more economical.

BILLIARD ARTISTS
ENTERING TOURNEY
STARTS WEDNESDAY

A billiard tournament scheduled to last through the winter and arouse interest in the ancient and honorable cushion game, will start at the Arcade hall, South Detroit street, Wednesday evening. It is announced by A. L. Regan, proprietor.

About 30 entries in the tourney have been received so far, and the books are not yet closed, so that other cushion artists may enlist in the tournament. Several crack players are scheduled to enter the lists Wednesday night in the first round of the tournament. Among these will be Otto Hornick, rated as the champion billiard player in the city whose crown will be eagerly sought for during the winter by a number of other cue artists.

Prizes will be awarded for the most games won and also for high runs made during the tournament.

IN THE COURTS

MOTION IS SUSTAINED

The State Supreme Court Tuesday sustained a motion directing the Greene County Court of Appeals to certify its record in the case of Olivia May Judy, and others against James Trolinger, and others, a partition case involving many legal complexities that has been long in litigation here.

At the same time the motion was sustained, the court overruled a motion by the defendant to dismiss the petition in error. The case is an action in partition brought by the heirs-at-law of Martha J. Judy to recover certain real estate in the possession of James C. Trolinger, who claims title by a conveyance under a sale. It is said plaintiffs declare they were parties to a partition of property and sale when children and that their rights were not properly represented and guarded.

The Common Pleas Court decision here was in favor of the defendants and was affirmed by the Appellate Court, as to all the plaintiffs except as to Florence Martin, a party plaintiff, in which case the judgment below was reversed and the cause remanded. Since then the plaintiffs in error appealed to the Supreme Court and the decision of that court Tuesday means the action will be carried to that tribunal. The property involved includes a farm near Fairfield.

C. H. Kyle and Philetus Smith and W. H. McLellan Jr., of Toledo, represent the plaintiffs in error and Marcus Shoup is attorney for the defendant.

The petition declares the rails are now out of use and are of little value to the company or stockholders. The receiver said he had been offered $25 a ton for the rails which he believes is a fair price.

RENEWED TESTIMONY

No one in Xenia who suffers headaches or distressing urinary ills can afford to ignore this Xenia man's twice-told story. It is confirmed testimony that no Xenia resident can doubt.

Leonard Jones, car inspector, Home Ave., gave the following statement Aug. 2, 1917: "Heavy lifting and working in a cramped position while repairing cars brought on lumbago. I was stiff and lame across my back. After I had worked in a cramped position for a few minutes I could hardly straighten. Doan's Kidney Pills rid me of the attack."

On Aug. 15, 1921, Mr. Jones said: "Doan's Kidney Pills cured me of kidney trouble and I have no further need for them."

EDUCATION.

John T. Adams, Chairman of the Republican National Committee, said recently:

"The safety and permanency of our republic rest upon the ability of the people for self-government. This, in turn, depends in a very large measure upon their education for the duties of citizenship. A free people must of necessity be an education people."

"Those who fled the tyranny and oppression of Europe and settled America well understood this fact. No privilege was more carefully guarded by the early colonists than that of free education. No practice was more tenaciously followed than that of providing schooling for their children."

"Our institutions are founded upon the principle that in a government of the people the people are capable of running their affairs because through education they understand the needs and processes of self-government. America endures because the people have a respect for a devotion to the institutions peculiar to this republic. These qualities are dependent upon an intelligent understanding of those institutions."

"America has led the world in promoting and supporting popular education, not only because an educated citizenship is necessary for the preservation of free institutions, but because it is necessary for material progress and prosperity. The United States has become the greatest producing nation because the worker in the factory and the worker on the farm are educated and bring to their task a trained mind."

"Industrial statistics show beyond all dispute that the least educated laborer, as a rule, is the poorest paid. Agricultural statistics show the most backward sections are those with the highest rate of illiteracy, while the richest and most productive states are those with the best school system and the lowest rate of illiteracy."

"Society and industry recognize the economic necessity as well as the political wisdom of popular education. The underlying reason for laws prohibiting child labor is that the employment of children denies them the opportunity of obtaining an education which fits them for citizenship and gives them opportunity for their own development."

"Our school and truancy laws, our elaborate provisions for school taxes, all testify to the fact that the people of this country fully realize the important part education plays in the development and destinies of this republic."

"A great deal remains to be done. There is the problem of educating the non-English-speaking aliens, of whom there are at least 5,000,000 in this country, according to conservative estimate. It is impossible for those who cannot read or write our language to catch the spirit of our free institutions."

"Education must not be confined to the few. It must remain the possession of all the people if democratic institutions are to prevail. It must be within the reach of every family if the average citizen is to prosper and his children are to have the equal opportunities that this republic guarantees them. Nothing in a representative government is so essential to individual welfare, national prosperity and the stability of institutions, as popular education."

THANKSGIVING DAY.

President Coolidge has issued his Thanksgiving Day proclamation for this year and speaks of the early beginning and constant continuance of the national custom of thanking God for his providential blessings. He calls to mind the death of President Harding and the disaster of the Japanese earthquake, and says that such experiences as these, if properly considered, tend to test and refine men and nations.

He impresses the fact that this has been to the people of our own nation a year filled with much of material prosperity, so that we have been blessed above all other countries. The President asks that the people gather in their homes and places of worship on Thursday, November 29, to give expression of their gratitude and "seek the guidance of Almighty God, that they may deserve a continuance of his favor."

The people of our land will do well to heed the message of their President, for Nov. 29, and observe the day with deep gratitude to Almighty God, and especially with appreciation of his mercy and grace through our Lord and Saviour.

How to Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results. Takes but a moment to prepare, and saves you about $2.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is that pine contains several elements that have a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine-cough syrups are combinations of pine and syrup. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2½ ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, instead of sugar syrup.

Either way, you make a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, good and tastes very pleasant. You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business.

The cough may be dry, hoarse and tight, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—irritated membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less.

Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, hoarseness, or any ordinary throat ailment.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with directions, and don't accept anything else. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money refunded.

ACHIEVEMENT

Buckle in, buckle in, buckle in to the task!
For the commonplace duties and easy don't ask,
Be glad it's your fortune to carry a load,
To turn from the highways and blaze a new road,
Be glad life has asked you great courage to bring
To some difficult thing!
What man has done there are many to do,
But the feat unaccomplished remains for the few.
The problems unsolved and the mountains unsealed

Will yet be achieved spite of all who have failed,
And he will be great who'll tenaciously cling
To some difficult thing.
Don't envy the idler who dances life through,
Be glad life has called you some service to do.
Rejoice in your burden, hold fast through the doubt,
Pride will be your's when the problem's worked out.
Tread the long road of achievement and cling
To some difficult thing.

It comes with every sack of cement. It has been made possible through the Portland Cement Association by the eighty-six cement manufacturers who are its members.

They realized that important research and educational work was necessary to give people the best information on how to use cement. They also realized that this could be done better by unified effort than by any individual company alone.

As a result, you may have for the asking the benefit of this Association's long and exhaustive studies on how best to use cement for the most satisfactory results in concrete construction.

If you want information about the usefulness of concrete under certain conditions, how to mix or place it to get the greatest value out of every sack of cement—you can get it by writing any one of our 28 offices listed below.

Supplying dependable information without charge by booklet, by letter or by personal conference when necessary, is the work of this Association. Millions of helpful booklets, covering a multitude of uses of concrete, are distributed annually to people who know they needn't guess—who know they can get the facts from us.

DISCUSS PLANS TO STANDARDIZE RULES

Columbus, O. Nov. 21.—Discussion of public health nursing during the morning sessions and diphtheria during the afternoon, occupied the attention of the fourth annual conference and institute of Ohio Health Commissioners here today.

A set of sanitary regulations, standardizing rules governing water supply, plumbing, sewage vaults, garbage disposal, and technical health terms was adopted by the commissioners.

F. R. Dew, health commissioner of Belmont County, and Dr. G. D. Lums, Middletown, health commissioner of Butler County for 33 years addressed the conference.

Columbus, O. Nov. 21.—Water purification engineers from fifty Ohio cities met today with State Health Department engineers for the third annual conference on methods of obtaining pure water.

The engineers tomorrow will make inspection trips to the filtration plants at Delaware and Newark, and at the latter city they will be entertained by officials of the Columbus chamber of commerce, it was announced.

A report on phenol pollution, a question of particular importance to Ohio river cities, will be submitted Friday by a committee.

GRAHAM IS NOT BEHIND ACTIVITY

Washington, Nov. 21.—Backers of Representative William J. Graham of Illinois for majority leader issued a statement defining "what is behind the Graham candidacy." The statement says: "The Graham candidacy gives expression in the house to the progressive Republican sentiment of the rank and file, east and west alike. Mr. Graham comes from an agricultural state of the great middle west, and his candidacy represents the feeling that emphasis needs to be put upon agricultural welfare equally with industrial and commercial welfare. The Graham candidacy is based upon the conviction that the combination of Gillett for speaker and Longworth for floor leader (the organization slate) does not give proper balance to the original lines."

ALLEGED EXTORTION AGAINST ATTORNEY IN LOS ANGELES

Los Angeles, Nov. 21.—Herman L. Roth, Hollywood and New York attorney, was indicted by the Los Angeles county grand jury on the charge of extortion as a result of a hearing of the charges that the lawyer, by means of a spurious divorce complaint, attempted to blackmail Barbara La Marr, prominent screen actress, out of $20,000. The indictment charges a felony. Roth was arrested last Thursday and after being held incommunicado some time was released on $5,000 bail. He was present in the grand jury room when the indictment was returned.

Authorities charge that Roth plotted to induce Blanche Sweet to file a suit for annulment of her marriage to Marshall Neelan. The district attorney's office holds evidence, it is alleged, in the form of a drawn up complaint against Neelan and which was seized in the lawyer's office.

Miss Sweet denied very emphatically she ever had consulted Roth or any other attorney relative to filing a divorce complaint. Her husband just as emphatically joined in the denial.

Miss Sweet said Roth had drawn up the complaint and then had tried to entice her either to sign, or, at least, to discuss filing it. She asserted Roth "pestered" her over the telephone "for months" on the pretext of wanting to discuss "contracts." She admits she finally went to his office, but that Roth was very definite in his conversation as to contracts.

DISCUSSES OUIJA BOARD TUESDAY

In discussing "Ouija Board" Tuesday night at The First Methodist Church, the Rev. Edward Berger said that while many find it an innocent amusement, to others, who make of it a spiritualistic seance, it has been a menace to sanity.

Incidentally it was mentioned that the word "ouija" is its own best definition, since it is merely a repetition of the word "yes" in French and in German. "With such antagonistic origin what wonder if it starts a conflict in the subconsciousness?" queried the speaker. However, he claimed that to nine-tenths of the questions asked it, Ouija is true to its name and will answer "yes, yes," confirming the desire in the mind that controls the hands on the board.

The danger of the ouija board was pointed out as that of trifling with one's own subconscious mind.

Proceeding to explain the difference between the right use and the speaker declared, "The greatest abuse of the subconscious, the uncontrolled use. Sanitation, and physical hygiene are not more necessary than a knowledge that will banish fear and all evil thought with their long train of suffering and utter wretchedness. If all your life you think of a man of 60 or 70 years as wrinkled, decrepit, and worn out, then that is what you will be at that age. When I was 45 I constantly told myself that I would have better health at 60. And I did have. 'Let us live in the freedom wherewith Christ has set us free.'"

The topic Wednesday night at eight o'clock at The First Methodist Church is "Your Mental Picture Gallery." Thursday afternoon at three o'clock the lecturer will give Lesson II: "According to Your Faith," Faith.

A FORCED INTRUSION

Chapter 19.

For two long days Lee did not see Hope. Each afternoon, at the sunset hour, he climbed to their rocky rendezvous and waited—in vain—until the gray shadows of evening closed about him.

On the third day he could not endure waiting any longer. When he reached the Rocky Cliff and found that Hope was not there, he decided to walk on through the woods in the direction of her cabin. He did not question whether it was the thing to do or not—the desire to see her urged him on regardless. He did not even stop to think what he would do when he reached the cabin. He only knew that some inexplicable power, over which he had no control, was drawing him toward her.

Jim Relveller had pointed out the little rustic cabin when they had been fishing in the morning. It nestled deep among tamarack and spruce trees, and was hardly visible in its secluded nook, where the inlet broadened out and formed a quiet cove at the head of the lake.

Yet even this sort of sacred seclusion, which hovered about the little cabin, did not tend to weaken him in his determination to reach it—and Hope. He had a queer pent-up feeling that Hope needed him. It hurt him to know that life was making her suffer so cruelly. She seemed almost frail and physically unequal to this battle she was facing heroically. And her lonely strength fired him with compassion.

He had tried to draw Jim out and make him talk about Hope. He was impatient to hear more about the weak, good-for-nothing man whom she had married. There was something incomprehensible to him in her loyalty.

"She won't leave his side now for days," Jim declared as Lee questioned him. "First he's sullen, on 'em hard as the devil to take care of. Then suddenly he's sorry and broken hearted—on 'em miserable. I seen him once after he's been off on one of them drunks. It was a time when he was so bad she had to come down and git me to go up 'en help her." Having imparted this information, Jim lapsed into thoughtful silence while Lee's imagination filled in the details.

Now as he walked on through the woods toward the little cabin, he was thinking of what Jim had said and the thoughts of the conversation urged him on. So, immersed in the one thought of reaching Hope, he suddenly came upon a man and a woman sitting talking in the woods. He stopped abruptly within 25 feet of them, and had it not been for the protection of two large pine trees they would surely have seen him.

Lee's heart seemed to stop short and then start up again in wild, noisy beating against his side. He grasped the rough bark of the huge pine tree and stepped back quickly within the protection of its broad shadows.

Straight ahead on a fallen log, with her back resting wearily against a tree, sat Hope. A man was sitting beside her with one thin hand resting in her lap and Lee noticed that Hope's fingers were entwined about his, caressing them from time to time.

The man was apparently tall and extremely pale and thin. His profile was turned toward Lee and it was almost beautiful in its pale delicateness save for his mouth, which was small and weak with a hopeless downward turn at the corners.

"You—you'll always stand by me, won't you, Hope?" the man entreated and something about the desperate hollow quality of his voice made Lee shudder.

For answer, Hope smiled tragically and patted the back of his white hand. "I think always that I won't—I won't do it again, God knows I don't want to," he cried, pulling his hand away from Hope's fingers and burying his thin face in his palms. "But you'll not give me up? You'll stand by me? I couldn't endure it without you" he begged.

Hope placed her arm on his shoulder and answered something but Lee could not tell what she said—he could only catch the low murmuring of her soft voice.
